Formerly known as Ahmanson Ranch, this 2,983 acres of open space is nestled on Western edge of the San Fernando Valley.

From the wide open platform of Laskey Mesa, to gentle slopes and rolling hills studded with valley oaks, sycamore-lined canyon bottoms and vistas of unspoiled California landscapes, riparian stream corridors, and the rugged rocklands and mysterious caves, ULV brings together all of this epic landscape right to LA's doorstep for you and your guests.

The historic, fully restored 1930s-era ranch house is available for weddings and other special events by permit.
